Preferential Procurement under attack ...& Marcus Jooste of Steinhoff still running free & living a private life of luxury.

The gist of the Supreme Court of Appeal judgement on Monday 2 November is that State Owned Companies cannot disqualify prospective contractors who are not majority black owned without first considering price and proposition of the tender. The court declared that the preferential procurement regulations, promulgated by the Minister of Finance in 2017, were invalid. These regulations allowed organs of state to disqualify tenders in advance if a company was not 51% black-owned, for example. The court has rejected this pre-disqualification as invalid and unconstitutional.

In its judgment, the SCA held that the pre-qualification criteria in the 2017 regulations constituted a deviation from the provision of section 217 of the Constitution which enjoins organs of state — when contracting for goods or services — to do so in accordance with a system which is fair, equitable, transparent, competitive and cost-effective.

What is key to note is that the appellate court declared the regulations invalid, but suspended the declaration for 12 months to allow the minister to remedy the defects identified. The BBC and its affiliates which includes the PPF has sought legal counsel on the matter to determine the best way to oppose this judgement.

This judgement is of course a major setback for transformation as it indicates that our legislation is in conflict with each other. Comments to the Preferential Procurement Bill which proposes a single regulatory framework for procurement applicable to all tiers of government and SOE's closed in May 2020. Once it becomes law, it will eliminate fragmentation in the laws that deal with public sector procurement. The Bill creates a more flexible preferential procurement regime and enables the Minister of Finance, after consulting responsible Ministers, to prescribe a framework for preferential procurement to advance economic opportunities for previously disadvantaged people; small businesses; locally produced goods etc.

We urge the State and our leaders in Government to move with haste and legislate the Preferential Procurement Bill.

We call on all South African companies to not only join but financially support the BBC legal process.

The PPF has endorsed Buy Black Week. Implement preferential procurement in your personal budget and spend at least R100 per day on black business in your area of operations.

Our objectives and Character:

Provide a platform for all professionals to stimulate intellectual debate on the progressive agenda.

- > Enable continuous interactions between various progressive formations and professionals.
- > Leverage and harness the capacity of professionals to engender an inclusive economic growth and combat the triple challenge of: Poverty, Inequality & Unemployment.
- > Seek mechanisms to ensure that the public discourse in the country is balanced and progressive and promote the patriotism of its citizens.

We will do this by availing our skills and expertise and engaging at a strategic level with government and the private sector.

Character of the PPF:

- > The PPF is non-racial, non-sexist, non-xenophobic and non-afrophobic
- > The PPF is a South African based organisation and has a national, continental and international focus.
- > The PPF seeks to attract professionals, academia, intelligentsia and entrepreneurs who align themselves with progressive movements and who aspire to progressive ideals such as those enshrined in the Freedom Charter and the Preamble of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa.

Building Africa's productive capacity through partnership

The PPF believes that the political, social and economic history and destiny of South Africa is intertwined with that of the African continent. Since 1994 the Government has steered South Africa into a progressive, respectful and collaborative contributor to the deepening of democracy, self-determination and prosperity throughout Africa. In addition, the performance of Africa's economy has begun to defy Afro-pessimism, with more than half of the 10 fastest growing global economies now being African.

- >The PPF will therefore enhance all efforts to foster alliances with progressive African professionals, businessmen and entrepreneurs, in order to maximize the continent's productive capacity.
- > The PPF will assist in fully integrating African professionals and businessmen in the diaspora into South African society as valuable and active participants.
- > The PPF will not tolerate xenophobia/afrophobia and will actively work to eliminating it.
